I. SITUATION ANALYSIS

Introduction

In the 10th Malaysia Plan: 2011-2015 (10MP)¹, one of the main priorities outlined by the Government is the critical need to transform the government's systems, processes and human capacity in order to ensure that the government's various transformation programmes are implementable. It also notes the government's need to restructure the public sector to ensure that it is more effective in its service delivery while at the same time ensuring that the transformation programmes contributes to better fiscal expenditure and management of the public sector.

The 10th MP also outlines that efforts will need to be directed towards reducing bureaucracy and improving the interface between government and people, and government and businesses, where a higher level of inter-agency collaboration and cooperation will be adopted. The efforts in the 10MP in this dimension are focused on four areas:

- Rationalising existing government organisations and structures;
- Building capacity in organisations focused on national priorities;
- Establishing high performance monitoring units; and
- Attracting, developing and retaining top talent in the public service.

During the Plan period, the Government will be undertaking a comprehensive audit of all government organisations and structures and reviewing roles, functions, gaps and overlaps. The objective of this will be to develop a plan for rationalising agencies with overlapping or redundant functions and to align the structure of government agencies contributing to the national priorities.

As challenges and opportunities will increasingly transcend traditional public sector boundaries, a whole-of-government approach will be deployed during the 10MP period. This whole-of-government approach will require agencies to work across portfolio boundaries and across federal, state and local levels as an integrated government to address cross cutting issues. This whole-of-government approach will be applied to policy formulation, programme development and delivery of outcomes. The new structure of government will require a number of existing government organisations, particularly those with overlapping or redundant functions, to be rationalised. Organisations focused on national priorities will be strengthened and talent in the public service will continue to be developed.

The findings of the 2011 Public Expenditure Review Study undertaken by the World Bank and commissioned by the Ministry of Finance and project related reviews and assessments by UNDP across a number of sectors, also confirms this perspective and underlines the need for strategies which will enable higher level of inter-agency collaboration and co-operation to improve and efficiently utilise financial and human resources. This complexity has also began to demonstrate its strain on the government system as reflected in the 2013 *IMD World Competitiveness Index*² whereby in comparison with 2012, within the Government Efficiency indicator, Malaysia has regressed slightly with the stress-points contributed by 'institutional framework', business legislation and societal framework. The *World Economic Forum's Global Competitiveness Report 2012-2013: Insight Report*³, also notes that although Malaysia is ranked 25 out of 144 countries globally, the top 2 most problematic factors for doing business is Inefficient government bureaucracy and corruption. However, at the same time, it is acknowledged that planning and managing 1.4 million public servants⁴ who provide services at every level of government from the local authorities right up to policy makers at the central agencies is a significantly a complex task and will require the commitment and input from the public sector Human Resources (HR) Managers (physically and operationally based in the various ministries, agencies and states) in order for any significant or effective transformation to be implemented in reforming the public service.

II. STRATEGY

Project Rationale

The Public Service Department (PSD) as the central agency in charge of human resources management for the public service and responsible for developing, evaluating and monitoring all human resources policies implemented by public sector agencies, has been tasked with two of the 10MP initiatives in relation to the transformation of the public service; namely:

- Initiative 84: to develop organisational capacity focusing on national capability and
- Initiative 85: to attract, develop and retain top talents in the public service.

In order to be able to carry out the transformation programmes outlined by the government, a more central comprehensive policy on the direction of the public service would need to be designed to assist in the whole of government approach that needs to be implemented, and to ensure that the government transformation strategies can be put into place.

In line with this, beginning 2013, PSD has initiated its Public Service Transformation Framework which is underpinned by the following 5 key Strategic Thrusts:

1. Revitalise – Enhancing competency, performance, productivity and innovativeness of civil servants;
2. Reengineer – Enhancing capability and revitalising civil service organisations;
3. Citizen centric – Improving efficiency and effectiveness of public service delivery;
4. Inclusiveness – Expanding strategic networking and collaborating locally and globally;
5. Shared values – Enculturing patriotism, good values, ethos and integrity.

The linkage between the efforts to be undertaken and the aspirations of the 10MP as well as the New Economic Model is indicated in Table 1 below.

Reviewing the various public sector reforms and strategies globally and especially based on the lessons from the reforms and transformation programmes undertaken in the OECD⁵ countries to streamline and right-size its workforce, it was noted that a significant number of the transformation programmes emphasised the following principles as part of its transformation programmes:

- Planning - defining the need and motivation for reform and setting its strategic objectives by developing a vision that can be communicated convincingly to all key stakeholders and implemented in the political timetable available to the government;
- Implementation - Setting an action plan, building leadership for the reform, overcoming resistance to change and creating a sense of ownership of the reform among affected stakeholders;
- Sustainability - avoiding reversal of the reform both in terms of financial resources, human resources and enabling frameworks.

UNDP Malaysia has since the First Malaysia Plan: 1966-1970 been actively engaged in supporting the Government of Malaysia in strengthening the institutional and organisational frameworks and enhancing the capacities of the Malaysian public service through dedicated and strategic capacity building initiatives. Since 2011, UNDP has begun collaborating with PSD in supporting the institutional strengthening of the public sector whereby models, analysis and policy options for a specific areas of human capacity building and post-services were developed and proposed to the Government.

In line with the above, PSD and UNDP will collaborate on a joint project with the aim of ensuring that an efficient, effective and capable public service is systematically put in place across the entire government machinery, leading to an effective implementation of the transformation programmes that the various Ministries will implement through their respective mandates and realising the development goals and vision of the country.

Project Objective, Outcomes, Outputs and Activities

Project Objectives and Linkage to National Development Plans

The project aims to assist the transformation process of the Malaysian public service in line with the aspirations and strategies outlined in the 10MP Chapter on 'Transforming Government to Transform Malaysia'. The project will also specifically structure its outputs to review, analyse and develop the appropriate policies and strategies that will substantively contribute as key inputs to the Public Service Transformation Framework and as input to the Economic Planning Unit (EPU) for the consideration in the design of the 11th Malaysia Plan: 2016-2020 (11MP).

The project's emphasis will be placed on supporting the Government's efforts to assess and identify the necessary reforms and structural adjustments required to attract, develop and retain top talent in the public service and also specifically support the preparation of relevant inputs for the 11MP. The project will also review the financing requirements of the Malaysian public sector for the medium to long term. The final expected outputs are a series of key documents outlining the strategic outlook and directions of the public sector, financing and organisational reforms of the Malaysian public service and also the Human Resources Masterplans for the entire Malaysian public service encompassing 22 Ministries for the period of 2015-2020.

The various key documents developed will provide a comprehensive picture of the requirements of the entire national public service and enable better utilisation of not only the capacities of human capital but also management of financial resources through better planning of required and future projections of the number of establishments in public sector organisations. The various outputs will also enable better planning in terms of recruitment, identification of strategic competencies required as well as controlling the size of the public service in Malaysia in the medium to long term.

Gender dimensions and considerations will be mainstreamed throughout the project. A specific emphasis will also be placed to ensure that specific policy recommendations in relation to the Government's commitments to increase representation of women in key decision-making positions to at least 30% women as outlined in the 10MP will be developed, operationalised⁶ and sustained by taking into account dimensions related to recruitment, career development and succession planning.

To ensure the buy-in and commitment of the various stakeholders, project outputs will be shared with the Chief Secretary of the Government and EPU, and if appropriate or relevant, PSD may consider submitting a report to the National Development Planning Committee highlighting key developments, issues and recommendations.

⁶ Chapter 4: Moving Towards Inclusive Socio-Economic Development, 10th Malaysia Plan states that the Plan will implement gender sensitization programmes in the public sector with regards to recruitment, career development and succession planning to increase representation of women in key decision-making positions within the parliament, state legislative assemblies, the judiciary and ministries. The Government will also increase its efforts to achieve a quota of at least 30% of decision-making positions to be held by women during the Plan period.

Project Outputs and Activities

The project will have 5 key Outputs and they are as follows:

Output 1: Strategic Outlook and Policy Directions of the Malaysian Public Service towards 2020

This Output emphasises the need to develop a medium to long term strategic outlook and policy directions for the Malaysian public sector based on a clear human resources management framework that will enable the government to look to the future, think strategically about the right mix of people and skills that will be required to respond to changing national development needs and strategies, and put into place the necessary policy directives and enabling frameworks to ensure the effective implementation of the national transformation programmes. Stakeholders and representatives from the various schemes of service in the public sector will be consulted to obtain feedback, input and build ownership in the design of this strategic outlook and policy directions.

This output has 3 key components.

- The first component is Thematic Policy Dialogues on Public Service Transformation that will be held from 2013-2015. It will specifically focus on identifying the necessary enabling frameworks that are required, encompassing legal, financial, administrative and structural requirements that need to be put in place alongside the proposed strategic directions and reforms. The data, analysis, results, assessments generated from the other 4 Outputs will be utilised as input for the dialogues undertaken through the project period. The aggregated recommendations of the various Thematic Policy Dialogues will be analysed, codified, and submitted as specific inputs for the 11MP consultation process.
- The second component is a UNDP Malaysia-PSD Public Service Summit that will be held in 2014. It will feature resource persons comprising senior policymakers from developed countries who have successfully embarked upon reforms of the public sector. The objective is to provide a platform for Malaysian senior policymakers to learn from international the best practices while enabling a close door environment for practical, hands-on and direct discussion on the lessons learned and challenges faced in the implementation of these reforms and to review the array of enabling frameworks that are required to operationalize their reforms. Preliminary assessments suggest that examples from Australia, New Zealand, Canada and South Africa are relevant to the public sector reforms and human resource planning activities that Malaysia intends to embark upon. The recommendations of the Summit and the close-door sessions will be analysed, codified, and submitted as specific inputs for the 11MP consultation process.
- The third component is a consolidated report titled Strategic Outlook and Policy Directions of the Malaysian Public Sector towards 2020 will be developed and submitted in 2015 to the Chief Secretary of the Government and EPU and other relevant stakeholders identified by the Project's National Steering Committee.

Output 2: Human Resources Planning Frameworks of the Malaysian Public Service: 2015-2020

In order to design the implementation phase of the strategic outlook and policy directions of the Malaysian public sector, specific future projections of human resources needs and the necessary reforms required both from a central planning and from a ministry/ agency perspective needs to be undertaken.

This output has 5 key components.

- The first component is the strengthening of technical capacities of planning officers in the Ministries on macro public sector reform approaches. In line with this, 2 structured modules will be developed collaboratively with National Institute of Public Administration (INTAN) and focused on:
 - a) Module 1: Futures Thinking and Scenario Planning Models for Public Sector Reform;
 - b) Module 2: Human Resources Management - Forecasting and Planning.

- Based on the Futures Thinking and Scenario Planning Models for Public Sector Reform module, the second component is a workshop for senior planning officials from 22 Ministries⁷. The emphasis of the workshop is to provide a structured platform and approach to develop suitable policies and planning for the medium to long term whilst taking into account future national strategies, priorities and global trends and developments.
- Based on the Human Resources Management - Forecasting and Planning module, the third component is Human Resources Planning Labs will be organized for Human Resources Managers from 3 key sectors (administrative, economy and social) involving 22 Ministries. The emphasis of the workshop is to provide a structured platform and approach to review the current internal Ministry needs and forecast the future requirements and competencies based on national strategies and priorities for the period of 2015-2020.
- The fourth component is the development of the Human Resource Plans for the Malaysian Public Service for 2015-2020. The Plans will encompass 22 Ministries in 3 key sectors and will require the participating Ministries to develop specific future projections of human resources needs for their respective agencies and the necessary reforms required both from a central planning agency and from a Ministry/agency perspective. The PSD as the central human resources (HR) planning agency will then work together with Ministries to obtain a holistic picture of the HR requirements of the public service, in terms of composition (posts and number of staff) and competencies.
- The fifth component is a report titled Review of Organizational Reforms. Based on the completion of the above-mentioned Human resources Plans for the Malaysian Public Service for 2015-2020, an assessment will be undertaken to review the feasibility of the Plans and the necessary organisational development reforms required to ensure its effective implementation. The Plans will also be utilised to support the work in Output 4 to assess the financial implications and liabilities in increasing or reducing the size of the public service.

Output 3: Assessment of the Malaysian Public Service

The overall strategic reform will require the government to have an overview of the current and future projections of the public service structure. To provide the necessary guidance to the various ministries and agencies to better plan the utilisation of people in order to get the best returns and with the appropriate competencies required, a detailed assessment will be undertaken on the profile of the current public sector. In addition, efforts will be undertaken to solicit feedback from the civil servants in 22 Ministries on their views of the challenges and future of the public sector reform.

This output has 2 key components.

- The first component is a comprehensive statistical assessment of the current state of the civil service. It will be undertaken through a statistical profile of the Malaysian public service and a report titled The Malaysian Public Service: 2015-2020 will be published. This overarching assessment will also incorporate the findings and recommendations from Output 1 and 2. Based on the inputs from the Output 2, it will also specifically generate the various scenarios in 2015 - 2020 and underline the implications and the emerging needs and trends. The report will also highlight the various challenges and bottlenecks that will need to be reviewed and reformed.
- The second component is a nationwide sampling survey of government Ministries and civil servants in 22 Ministries. It will specifically focus on obtaining feedback on the a) Public Service Transformation Framework and b) challenges and way forward for the Malaysian Public Service. A report titled Survey on the Public Service Transformation Framework will be published at the end of the activity for review by PSD Senior Management.

⁷ The 24 Ministries in the Malaysian government are operationally clustered in 4 key sectors: administrative, economy, social and security. The 2 ministries under the security cluster will not be included in this project and thus will only involve 22 Ministries in the 3 other sectors.

Output 4: Financing and Organisational Development Reforms

The development of a comprehensive national public sector human resources strategy which encompasses the full spectrum of activities from recruitment, development right up to succession planning will also be contextualized within the larger framework of financing and organizational development that the PSD is currently undertaking.

The Federal Government of Malaysia is set to adopt full accrual-based accounting for financial reporting by 1 January 2015, so as to converge with the requirements of the International Public Sector Accounting Standards (IPSAS). The readiness of accrual accounting implementation for pension plan and liabilities is one of the transformation initiatives in line with objectives identified by the National Economic Advisory Council in the New Economic Model through the Public Finance Reform Strategic Reform Initiative and approved by the Prime Minister on 11 May 2011 and endorsed by the Government Accounting Standards Advisory Committee. Through this initiative, the Government has targeted to achieve a Federal Government budget deficit of around 3% by 2015 and near budget neutral by 2020.

This shift from cash-based accounting to accrual accounting will enable the public sector to report its financial performance, financial position and cash flow more accurately towards enhancing accountability and transparency in its financial management. The Government's Financial Statement will include the account of Post-Service Division with regard to a pension plan and liabilities. The accounting policy for pension will consist as follows:

- Compliance with The International Public Sector Accounting Standard (IPSAS) 25 criteria;
- Definition liability based on present value; and
- Measurement of obligation with actuarial assumptions and pension expenditures.

This output has 4 key components.

- The first component is report titled Review on the Financial Costs in Implementing Accrual Accounting on the Pension System.
- The second component is the development of an Implementation Action Plan 2015 of accrual accounting for pension plans and national liabilities by 1st January 2015.
- The third component is a report titled Review of the Implementation Action Plan 2015 and based on the implementation undertaken in 2015 (in the first year of its implementation).
- The fourth component is a series of Finance and Organizational Reforms workshops that will be held from 2013-2015. Based on the Human resources Plans for the Malaysian Public Service for 2015-2020, it will specifically focus on the proposed reforms relating to organizational development reforms and the full financial implications to the Government. Various dialogues with key stakeholders (including the EPU and the Ministry of Finance) will be held to obtain feedback and input for the proposed reforms.

Output 5: Best Practice and Innovations in Public Service

It has been noted that a large number of innovations and best practices across Ministries and agencies have been designed and deployed, especially in undertaking transformative programmes and public service reform. However, there has been insufficient analysis, codification and dissemination of the experiences and the lessons learned especially in the areas of human resources management.

This output has 1 key component.

- The component consists of the compilation, codification and consolidation of best practices and innovations from the entire public sector, especially in the areas of innovation in Human resources Management. It will lead towards the production of Case Studies: The Malaysian Public Service Reform Experience. The case studies will be featured on the PSD website and provided to the public sector training institutions such as INTAN as part of its on-going leadership and development training programmes.

Sustainability and Replicability

The project is designed and focused on designing a detailed assessment, review and development of policy strategies in support of the Public Service Transformation Framework and will conclude at the end of the project period and with the relevant recommendations made to PSD and other relevant stakeholders for consideration in the 11MP.

The training modules and case studies developed in collaboration and shared with INTAN will ensure the sustainability of the efforts and build the necessary capacities of public sector policymakers and relevant officers from the various Ministries and agencies to continue to utilise these tools in the medium to long term. It will also ensure that a systematic and institutional approach of transfer of knowledge will take place, providing all policy makers and HR managers with the required knowledge and skills. The direct linkage of the project outputs to the Public Service Transformation Framework is outlined in Table 1 below.

ANNEX 2: MONITORING: RISKS AND MITIGATION

Description	Type	Impact & Probability	Mitigation Measures
The value of US Dollars foreign exchange against the ringgit may reduce during the project cycle	Financial	Probability: Low Impact: Medium	There will be a need to regularly monitor the exchange rate to ensure that it does not affect the budget of the project. If there are major changes, the budget will be adjusted accordingly and approved by the NSC. Alternative parallel funding source may be considered.
There maybe some delay in the project timeline in terms identifying the appropriate consultants and organizing the appropriate capacity workshop and engagement with the stakeholders.	Others	Probability: Medium Impact: Medium	There will also need to be close consultation with PSD to identify the needs and scope of the TOR and appropriate consultants and speakers both local and international to ensure the in-depth study are completed on schedule and the objectives of the respective activities are achieved.
There may be challenges in accessing recent or updated data and statistics on relevant indicators especially at the state and agency levels.	Others	Probability: Medium Impact: High	There will be a need to engage with different institutions such as government agencies particularly the Department of Statistics, state and agencies to source the needed and most current data available, and complement with statistically rigorous primary data, if necessary.
The timely implementation of the project could be affected if there is a pandemic/epidemic outbreak in Malaysia.	Others	Probability: Medium Impact: Medium-High	There will be a need to monitor the patterns of any outbreak of influenza as and when it happens. The schedule of activities and output targets will be amended accordingly depending on the gravity of the outbreak.

Principles of the Universal Price List

The UPL consists of a set of standard services, with reasonable cost estimates, that can be provided by UNDP country offices. Note, the UPL is only intended to price specified standard services — not inputs to UNDP projects and programmes. The pricing of inputs to UNDP projects and programmes should be based on actual costs for clearly identifiable transactions. When this is not possible, country offices may use the UPL.

The UPL does not cover specialized or locally provided ad-hoc services. The UPL also does not cover local security-related services that might be necessary in certain countries without banking facilities. Both ad-hoc and local security services, and their estimated costs, should be covered through locally negotiated agreements between UNDP country offices and concerned Implementing Partner.

1. Not all Implementing Partner require all services. In particular, they may carry out several UPL sub-transactions, thus reducing the overall cost of the service. Each standard service in the UPL takes this into consideration.
2. A certain number of services which were previously categorized as standard administrative services (local driver's licenses, visa requests, customs clearance, etc.) have now been eliminated from the UPL. Any standard service not listed on the UPL is to be considered ad-hoc/non-standard service subject to full cost recovery per locally negotiated prices using transparent prevailing market rates.
3. The request for services under the following exceptional circumstances are subject to a 25% surcharge on top of the regularly accepted cost/price:
 - Urgent requests requiring a turnaround of less than 3 business days.
 - Requests for services before/after normal working hours.
4. Requests for prior year UPL services should always use the latest applicable published rates (not UPLs from prior years) without exception.
5. Payment Process: the process includes disbursement only, and requires a written instruction by the budget owner agency. UNDP does not review procurement process supporting documentation other than vendor banking information, unless otherwise stipulated locally. Note that UNDP does not charge Implementing Partner for running a fully automated pay cycle.
6. Staff selection and recruitment process for resident agencies only.
7. In cases where a reciprocity agreement does not exist between UNDP and Implementing Partner, the time spent on joint boards (recruitment, procurement, etc.) will be charged as an ad-hoc service.
8. Staff HR and Benefits Administration & Management typically include services such as:
 - Position Data and Budget management
 - Issuance of contract
 - HR and dependent/beneficiary data entry and maintenance
 - Benefits data entry and maintenance (PF/Medical/Life Insurance)
 - Interface with GMC Henner on MIP reimbursements
 - Organization events (within grade increments, secondments, transfers etc)
 - Life events (changes to marital status and dependents)
 - HR data management for ASHI retirees
 - Production of key HR reports such as staffing table & personnel action forms (PAFs)
 - Guidance to staff and managers on HR rules and regulations

9. Staff Payroll and Banking Administration & Management are distinct from Global Payroll Services (provided by UNDP Copenhagen) and include services such as:

- Setting up transactions that impact payroll such as one-time or recurring earnings and deductions, garnishments, positive inputs for overtime payments and transportation allowance.
- Administration of retroactivity, recoveries and adjustments
- Maintenance of the absence calendars for that location
- Management of absence data
- Validation of trial payroll results prior to the final pay run.
- Maintenance of employee banking instructions
- Tracking and adjusting of leave balances that affect pay
- Reporting of payroll activity to Managers
- Production of payroll reports and queries
- Production of pay slips for employees
- Manage receivables and payables that have an impact in Payroll including benefits billing for retirees and SLWOP. The Administrator GP will be granted access to the Finance Module to process these transactions.
- Production, follow up and clean up of the PVR reports

10. As stated above, the UPL is only intended to price services to Implementing Partners — not inputs to UNDP projects and programmes. The pricing of inputs to UNDP projects and programmes should be based on actual costs for clearly identifiable transactions. When this is not possible, country offices may use the UPL. Where the portion of the procurement process that takes place outside Atlas is of a clearly complex (ad-hoc) nature involving specialized supply-chain management processes, dedicated procurement staff, etc., offices are encouraged to determine the actual cost of the exercise and explore with donors/partners the possibility of charging the cost of some of its specific components (e.g. dedicated staff) — in full or in part — to the project budget as a direct input to project delivery (i.e., negotiated transparent, prevailing rates using the UPL as a baseline).

11. If, due to its size and/or complexity, a procurement process must be submitted to a Regional ACP (or regular ACP), it should be treated like ad-hoc service subject to full cost recovery at transparent, prevailing market rates.
