Brief Description

In 2020, The social cohesion programme continues to encourage effective community participation, understanding and respect through a direct engagement with the Syrian community. Consequently, the social cohesion programme with consideration to Syria country priorities will focus on strengthening the resilience of youth and women because they often face disproportionate social, economic barriers which prevents them from unleashing their full potential. To utilize women and young people's potential as agents of change and peace, requires involving and empowering them in development, policies and supporting their participation at all levels. UNDP will partner with young people, youth and women organizations, actors from civil society and private sector to local authorities, and members of the UN family to promote community-focused and community-led development Initiatives.

The social cohesion and local development portfolio intervention will still be prioritized according to community needs and context sensitivity challenges. The bottom-up approach will continuously be favored in order to strengthen social cohesion as well as fostering local governance. In order to maximize chances of social stability and sustainability, new community spaces will be identified and prioritized accordingly. New areas such as innovation will be developed in order to support local development actors in setting up inclusive and participatory mechanisms and structures for shared agenda setting, dialogue and consensus building. The project will contribute directly to SDGs # 5, 10, 16 and 17.
